

Brogue Saxophone Quartet with 5 performances in February

by arts-halifax | January 13, 2015 - 12:13pm

EVENT DATE:

*Tuesday, January 13, 2015 - 12:00am - Saturday, February 28, 2015 - 12:00am

CONTACT PHONE NUMBER:

*902-830-1167

WEBSITE:

*<http://www.broguequartet.ca>

Wednesday, February 4, the Brogue Saxophone Quartet kicks off a string of winter tour dates with a concert at 7:30pm at the Visual Voice Fine Arts Gallery in Truro, NS.

The Brogue Quartet is a newcomer to the Atlantic Canadian chamber music scene. After an initial meeting brought about by tenor saxophonist Brad Reid in early 2013, the personnel at that time prepared a December concert offering in Halifax, which inspired further investigation into the group's potential. In 2014 the quartet had 2 summer performances - Halifax's Tunes at Noon series, and a featured evening performance for the Nova Scotia Choral Federation in Berwick, NS.

Now reaching full momentum in 2015, the quartet has found a perfectly matched, if somewhat small, venue in the Visual Voice Fine Arts Gallery in Truro, NS. This past fall, the gallery held a Creative Concert Series, with artists ranging from Symphony Nova Scotia's principle cellist Norman Adams, to the often electrifying guitar sounds of Geordie Haley. As their website (www.visual-voice.ca/fineart) states, "from the seasoned artist to the newly discovered, Visual Voice represents artists in a variety of media and styles, with a mandate to indulge the senses, enrich the local art scene, and raise the general appreciation of art." Appropriately, the Brogue Quartet seems to embody the same mandate, with the seasoned James Kalyn (Cleveland Orchestra), to the youngest member Catherine Hatt (Band of the Ceremonial Guard, Ottawa). Stylistically, alto saxophonist Tristan De Borba considers himself a strictly classical player (with an upcoming performance with Symphony Nova Scotia), while Brad Reid (Neptune Theatre - Avenue Q, Into the Woods, Sweeney Todd), the ensemble's tenor saxophonist brings his jazz background, and woodwind doubling to the mix.

Also a doubler, Kalyn brought up the idea of incorporating other instruments into the quartet with Reid, and beginning this February, audiences will in fact see all members of the Brogue Saxophone Quartet quartet playing more than one instrument on some arrangements. Relying in part on funding provided by Mount Allison University, where Kalyn currently teaches single reeds and conducting, the Brogue Quartet has prepared a repertoire of what they call "crossover" selections. The program will include suites by Gordon Goodwin, David Kechley, and Bob Mintzer, as well as Thierry Escaich's Tango Virtuoso. Original arrangements by Kalyn and Reid will also be featured, as well as a few surprises.

After Truro, the Brogue Saxophone Quartet can be seen Feb 5 in the Antigonish Performing Arts series, Feb 9 at Acadia University, Feb 10 at Mount Allison University, and Feb 12 in Halifax. Find more info online at www.broguequartet.ca.

Cash in to freeze energy costs.

We will pick up and recycle your old working fridge or freezer and give you $30.

Schedule a pick-up today.

Recent Comments

WofWM Should never have changed it in the first place.

Go back to original version.

Conservative MPs unimpressed by George O'Connell - 6 minutes ago

WofWM We already have a housing shortage. You can forget about saving money if we lose anymore.

Supply and demand will dictate their pay pretty soon and it won't be lower.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE | FEB. 26, 2015 - 6 minutes ago

ADP1 You missed your calling - you belong on the south end of a north-bound horse...

Police prepared, others should be, too - 4 minutes ago

John C. The problem with staying is that the fanatics do not recognize they have a no-win situation. They have a seemingly unlimited supply of initiates to don explosive vests and now that women in burkas...

ON TARGET: Web's advice making bad situations worse - 11 minutes ago

Woodstock This is the type of big stick mentality that causes problems.

Government is not above the law and must work with people. Dictating never worked.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE | FEB. 26, 2015 - 21 minutes ago

Win a trip to Scotland >

Herald Coupons

Buy 2 of the FREE Herald Coupons

Win a trip to Scotland >

Herald Coupons

Buy 2 of the FREE Herald Coupons

LEGER: Fabled plot proves state already has enough power.
18 comments - 2 hours ago

HOME ROOM: Conflict of interest system in need of review.
31 comments - 2 hours ago

Both Darcey's and the unions' fate hangs in the air
3 comments - 2 hours ago